The Oregon's Civil Rights Committee: YOU Should Get Involved!

1) The Civil Rights Committee is a great way to meet and work with fellow NRCSers!

- Be part of a dynamic group of people with a wide range of experience working towards defined goals
- Through committee activities you'll get a chance to meet fellow NRCSers working in all facets of the agency.

2) See the state!

- Wonder what the Pendleton office looks like, or perhaps always wanted to go to Klamath Falls? As a member of the Civil Rights Committee you will have the opportunity to travel around Oregon as part of your activities. It's a great way to become more familiar with our agency's success throughout the state.

3) Become an expert in Civil Rights rules and regulations!

- Civil rights are something everyone should know about. By joining the team you will gain valuable expertise in a subject that impacts everyone. Especially if you are in a leadership position, such as district conservationist, or plan to be in the future.

4) Expand your work experience and build your resume!

- As a Civil Rights Committee member you will gain valuable work experience outside your day to day activities. Your committee duties give you a chance to provide training to your local offices, develop outreach materials, attend local events and fairs, network with people at all agency levels, and advise state leadership on civil rights issues and goals.

5) Help keep Oregon NRCS a great place to work!

- Oregon places a high priority on maintaining an active and energetic Civil Rights program. This goes a long way in making Oregon a great place to work. As a member of the Civil Rights Committee you can invest in your work environment for the benefit of yourself and everyone.
